What can we learn from religions about deciding what is right and wrong?

Judaism.

Jews:

People who follow the religion of Judaism and believe there is only one God who created the world and everyone in it.

Holy book:

The Torah

The Torah contains the Ten Commandments given by God to help Jews live their lives.

The Golden Rule:

Judaism:

What is hateful to you, do not do to your

Christianity.

Christians

People who follow the religion of Christianity believe there is only one God and his son is Jesus Christ.

Holy book:

The Bible

The Bible contains the Beatitudes which are eight sayings of Jesus to help Christians live their lives.

The Golden Rule:

Christianity:

Love your neighbour as yourself.

Humanism.

Humanists

People who believe in Humanism do not believe in a god.

Holy book:

No holy book.

Humanists do not feel they need a holy book to help them to be good. They have their own reasoning and conscience to do that.

The Golden Rule:

Humanism:

Treat other people as you want to be treated; don't do things you wouldn't have done to you.

Temptation is something you want to have or to do, even though you know you shouldn't.

Everyone experiences temptation sometimes as in the story of Adam and Eve.
